greetings

February flew by in a flash, didn't it? Or maybe I just had my head down working on a graduate school project... In any case, March is coming in like a lion (and I'm not talking about the weather). I promised new collaborations in 2023, and I can't wait to share more details!

XOXO

how can i help?

Shoulder Season is Spring Cleaning Season!

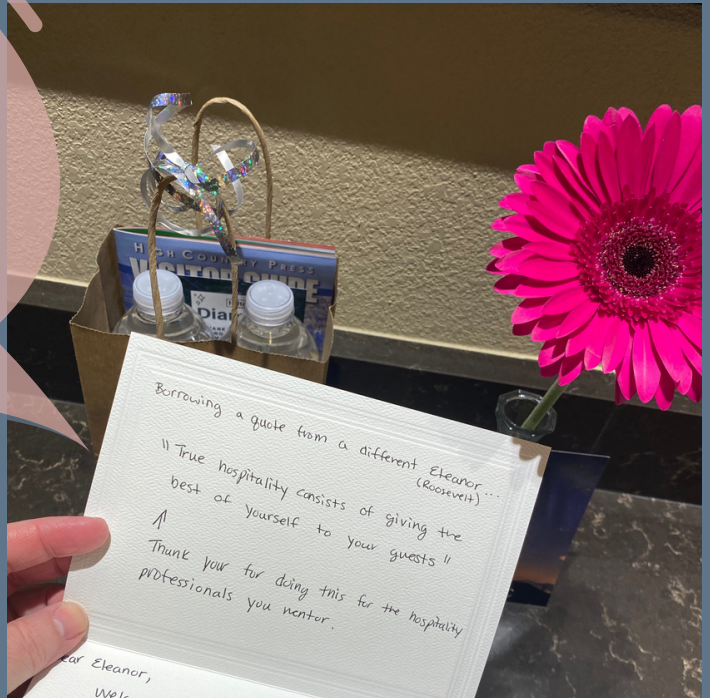

If you own or manage a hotel in the U.S., there's a good chance you are in a shoulder season right now, that unpredictable period of time between peak and off-peak. In my hotels, shoulder season was a great time to tackle spring cleaning projects (we all have at least ONE storage room that scares us!)

Shoulder season is also a time when you might be ramping up your staffing efforts. I can help with that! From identifying your needs, reviewing your onboarding paperwork, and dusting off your curb appeal to designing perfectly tailored training for all your team members, I'm ready to help you maximize your efforts. Schedule a call with me and let's get started!

eleanor + Eleanor

I had the opportunity to travel to the NC mountains in February, and I stayed at a Hampton Inn & Suites (naturally!) This lovely note welcomed me in my room, featuring a quote from (ahem) another Eleanor. My career is evolving - my willingness to give my best to others is as passionate as ever. ❤️
